

Using Power Effectively is a Learnable Competency.

If your job is to help leaders improve their performance, it's vital you understand how their use of power impacts their chance of success.

Become certified in the Diamond Power Index® - a multi-rater (360°) leadership assessment which helps organizations optimize their leadership portfolio by measuring how effectively leaders use power—personal and positional—to achieve results, empower others in the organization, and influence people up, down, across, and outside their organization.

Certification in Power Intelligence®

Barcelona, Spain

October 4-6, 2018

With Julie Diamond, Ph.D.

Do you recognize any of these power problems your clients?

- Disengagement: Micromanagement and other disempowering behaviors lead to disengagement.
- Difficulty influencing without authority: When leaders aren't fluent using different kinds of power, they aren't able to extend their influence across or outside the organization.
- Avoiding conflict and difficult conversations: Leaders who underuse power fail to confront problems, keep meetings on track, set deadlines, and hold people accountable.

Certification in Coaching for Power Intelligence®

The program teaches you to measure how effectively leaders use personal and positional power using the Diamond Power Index®.

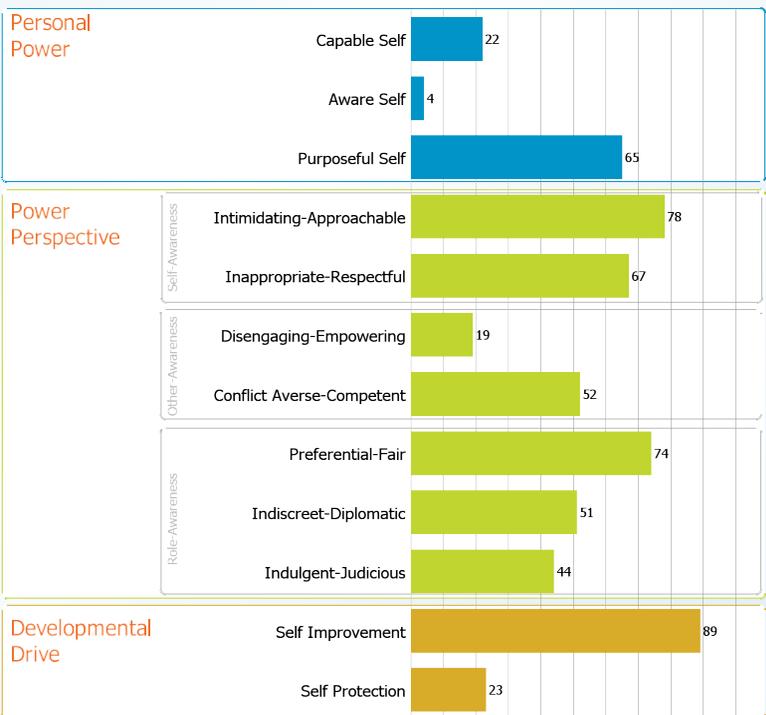

You will learn to:

- Administer the Diamond Power Index®
- Interpret scores and results in the Power Profile™ and Power Profile™ Coaching Report
- Identify critical opportunities and vulnerabilities related to your client's use of power
- Create a customized path of development for your client
- Integrate Power Intelligence® into your organization's leadership development initiatives
- Use the Diamond Power Index® for coaching and developing individual leaders, high potentials, and leadership teams

Participants can attend the first day and a half for an Introduction to Power Intelligence® without the full certification.
